STANISLAUS BAND IN STATE CONTEST SCORES SUPERIOR RECOGNITION

First Honors, With High Rating, Captured at Jackson in State Contest—Individual Gold Medals Awarded Each Member of Band.

First honors, with superior rating, were awarded to the St. Stanislaus College Band in the annual contest staged at Jackson, Miss., on April 8 and 9. The marching contest, which the band took last year, was called off on account of rain. A gold plaque was awarded the school as evidence of superiority and each member received a gold medal.

The concert contest was staged in the city auditorium at Jackson. Fourteen other bands competed in Class C, in which class band rated. The numbers presented were: "The Ambassador," march; "Sir Galahad" selected overture; "The Scarlet Mask" required overture.

The marching contest was scheduled at 7:30 P. M. Thursday on the field of Millsaps College. Due to a heavy rain which made the field soggy, the marching was called off, much to the disappointment of all, as it was felt that last year's performance could be duplicated and honors carried off.

Band members left St. Stanislaus Campus on Wednesday, April 7, arriving at Jackson same evening and registered at the Edwards Hotel. On the way to the auditorium, the next afternoon, it paraded with the other bands to the auditorium for the contest. It was greeted with prolonged applause all along the route.

Friday evening the aggregation left the Capital City for a trip to Vicksburg. After spending the night there, it left for Bay St. Louis and reached the campus at dusk. An ovation was given the boys and their director, Bro. Romuald, by the student body.

The handsome plaque becomes the property of the college and was at once placed in the Hall of Trophies, for it must be remembered St. Stanislaus students have won from time to time many silver cups, plaques, and other trophies for outstanding achievement and worthwhile endeavor. It is of general interest and satisfaction to learn of the success of the collegians and their professors and tutors who have labored successfully. Bay St. Louis always makes a splendid showing when away in contest, always a winner, and this time is no exception.

A concert recently presented by the college band won unanimous acclaim for talent displayed and it was expected the young gentlemen would give a good account of themselves in the State-wide contest.

Bro. Romuald, the director, who is untiring in his efforts, is to be congratulated on the success of his band of musicians. It is gratifying to know one's labors are rewarded in the manner that a conscientious and painstaking tutor would rather have it above all else.

BISHOP'S CRUSADE TO BE LAUNCHED 23-25 HAS TWO-FOLD PURPOSE

Plan to Revive Missionary Passions of The Church And Free Will Offering

The Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, have launched a great spiritual advance movement, known as "The Bishop's Crusade." The purpose of this crusade is two-fold: first, to revive the missionary passion of the Church; and second, to secure freewill offerings to pay off the indebtedness of the Board of Missions. April 23-25 has been set aside for the accomplishment of this aim.

These dates are significant to all Southern Methodists because they commemorate the eighty-ninth anniversary of the sailing for China of Rev. Charles Taylor and Rev. Benjamin Jenkins, who were the first foreign missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Great preparations are being made for commemorating this historic event. In most of the seventeen thousand churches of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, with a total membership of approximately 2,800,000, suppers will be given on Friday evening, April 23rd. A Church-wide broadcast, coming over forty or more radio stations, will carry a program commemorating this event.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is already making its plans for re-enforcing its missionary enterprises by sending new missionaries to its foreign fields. This much needed reinforcement will be possible, provided, the indebtedness of the Board will be paid off on April 25th.

PRESIDENT LOCAL COLLEGE SELECTED TO EXECUTIVE BOARD

In a letter received this week at St. Stanislaus College, Bro. William, president of St. Stanislaus, was apprised that he was selected a member of the Executive Board of Secondary Schools of the National Catholic Educational Association, an honor of more than ordinary import. The honor came to him as recognition of his interest and activeness in the case of Catholic education.

Letter of appointment came from the Rev. Leo P. Gainer, O. P., located at St. Dominic's church, Youngstown, Ohio, national executive. And is very complimentary in its tenor.

Bro. William is very modest and shrinks from praise and honors that come to him. Nevertheless, the honor, a national one, is worthy and the cause for congratulation. In addition, Bay St. Louis receives a certain amount of recognition as well.

ATTORNEY EATON OF GULFPORT IS MAIN SPEAKER AT LUNCHEON

His Subject, "The Supreme Court"—Opposes Proposed Change—Other Speakers

Attorney Barney E. Eaton of Gulfport was the honor guest and program speaker for the local business men's luncheon Wednesday at Hotel Weston.

His subject, "The Supreme Court" was all-engaging, giving a brief outline of the formation and history of the court, which he said was ever the bulwark of the people, protecting them in State's rights and in every way safeguarding their liberty. The early history of writing the Constitution and describing the functions of the court proved of informative interest. He made it plain that the proposed changes to the Supreme Court bench would be dangerous and particularly to the South. The address was illuminating.

Joseph R. Scharff, chairman Community Service Committee and Rene de Montluzin, chairman Club Service Committee recently returned from the 17th District Rotary Conference held at Natchez, respectively gave reports as chairmen of the committees they represented. Both were of definite value and interest—briefly and effectively put to the point. The talks were inspirational and gave many pointers of value.

NATIONAL COUNCIL CATHOLIC WOMEN MEET IN BAY CITY

West Coast Section Members Assembled Wednesday at St. Joseph Academy

Bay St. Louis District of the National Council of Catholic Women held its monthly meeting at St. J. Academy Wednesday afternoon, with a splendid attendance from Long Beach and Pass Christian as well as Bay St. Louis. Fathers Lilly, Leech and Gmelch were in attendance.

The reports from the different districts on charitable and spiritual activities are always revelations of the great good accomplished continuously, and which many never realize is taking place.

The council planned a card party with 25c tickets to be given on May 5th, at 2:30 P. M., at the home of Mrs. A. Schmidt on West Beach Boulevard to which everyone is invited to attend.

Handsome prizes are always given, and as there is only one affair given each year, the proceeds going to defray the general expenses of the district, a large attendance is expected.

CAPT. ALEXANDER FAYE VETERAN BOATMAN AND COUNTY PIONEER DIES

Well-Known Resident of Jordan River Section of County Victim of Pneumonia—Native of France, Aged 66 Years—Interment St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Captain Alexander Faye, pioneer resident of Fenton section and Rotten Bayou, in the Jordan river section of Hancock county, passed away at his home Friday night and was interred with funeral ceremony at St. Joseph Cemetery Sunday.

Last rites were conducted by the parish priest, the Rev. Father Denis, of St. Joseph's Church, the funeral largely attended by friends from all sections, including many from Bay St. Louis.

Fall bearers included Sheriff Claude Monti, Supervisor T. Ed Keller, R. N. Blaise of Bay St. Louis, and Nick Selzer, Sr., R. E. L. Stuart and John Savage.

Victim of pneumonia, the news of the passing away of this excellent, most genial gentleman was received here Saturday with much sorrow and was a shock to the friends who knew nothing of his illness. His passing away was unexpected.

Captain Faye for many years operated watercraft between the waters and tributaries of Jordan River and New Orleans, and was well and widely known along the Basin front of New Orleans. In fact he was a familiar figure and generally hailed and well met by the populace. Perhaps he was better known as owner of the freight barge "Alert" that carried freight out from the big city to all water points of his section of the county and on the return trip carried naval stores products.

At his home on the banks of Rotten Bayou he was ever ready to welcome his friends and no where there existed a more hospitable place of abode, with Mrs. Faye assisting. Captain Faye was whole-souled, genuine. His place was one of general gatherings, friends from far and near, particularly was this so on Sunday afternoons.

BELOVED WOMAN OF BAY ST. LOUIS GOES TO FINAL REWARD

Mrs. Lena Dell Shannon Fahey, Widow of John B. Fahey, Passes On at Residence After Mid-Night Monday.

Even though she had lived a long and beautiful life, well serving the sphere of life, mother and community resident, the passing away of Mrs. Lena Dell Shannon Fahey at the family home, 129 Railroad avenue, brought sorrow to this city and vicinity, where she had so long resided, beloved by all who knew her.

Mrs. Fahey had been ill for a long time. Recently taken to Hotel Dieu at New Orleans, remaining weeks there she was under observation and treatment by specialists, her condition did not improve and it was her request that she be returned to her home and family in the Bay St. Louis she loved so well. She passed away Tuesday morning at 12:30 o'clock, surrounded by her loved ones. The remains were exposed at the family residence and throngs of people visited there day and night until the last rites were performed Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, from the house to the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf, where a requiem high mass ceremony was conducted.

The Rt. Rev. Richard O. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez, a personal friend of the family, was present for the occasion, arriving in Bay St. Louis the evening previously. The Rev. Leo F. Fahey was chief celebrant.

Ceremony was concluded at the family burial plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, where the remains were tenderly laid away in the center of a three-compartment concrete-walled underground vault. One outside the remains of a son, Alphonse, who died in 1918, while away and enlisted in the case of the World War, the other an only daughter, Pearl, who passed away in 1922.

Funeral service at the home was conducted by the Pastor, Very Rev. A. J. Gmelch.

Solemn High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. Leo F. Fahey, Rev. Patrick Moran, Deacon; and Rev. Francis Deignan of Chatawa was sub-deacon. Rev. W. J. Leech, of Pass Christian was Master of Ceremonies. Most Rev. Richard O. Gerow, D. D. Bishop of Natchez, assisted at the Mass, gave the Absolution and conducted the services at the cemetery. Sermon by Most Rev. Bishop.

Other priests attending were: Very Rev. Charles Wolf, S. V. D., of St. Augustine's Seminary; Very Rev. Gerard Esser, S. V. D., rector of St. Augustine's Seminary; Rev. Michael Costello of Waveland; Rev. A. C. Denis of Kiln; Rev. Joseph Holland of Mississippi City; Rev. Charles Hunter of Pascagoula; Rev. Francis McGlade of Natchez; Rev. Jas. P. O'Sullivan of Biloxi; Rev. John McNamara of McComb; Rev. Denis O'Sullivan of Biloxi; Rev. Francis Quinn of Biloxi; Rev. Joseph Sweeney, S. J., of Pass Christian; Rev. Thos. Lilley, C. M., of Long Beach; Rev. Jos. Holken, S. V. D., of Bay St. Louis; Rev. Christian Baker, S. V. D. of St. Augustine's Seminary.

Other visitors were Mother Ann Xavier, Provincial of the Sisters of St. Joseph, New Orleans; Sister Victoria, of New Orleans; Mother Mary Alice and Sister Veronica of Baton Rouge; Mother Claire of New Roads, La.

The High Mass was sung by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart under the direction of Brother Romuald. The Brothers of the Sacred Heart also served as Pall Bearers. Students of St. Stanislaus College and St. Joseph's Academy and the Sorbonne attended the Mass in a body.

The last resting place was banked high and wide with floral tributes from friends at home and from away, a mass of lowliest flowers that bore silent yet eloquent tribute to the memory of the one gone before.

The deceased was the widow of John B. Fahey, who passed away some thirty-three years ago, well remembered by the older residents. A man of engineering skill and associated with the larger construction projects of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company. She was a native of Gallatin, Tenn., and would have been 74 years of age this summer. She and Mr. Fahey and their son Joseph came to Bay St. Louis from Louisville, Ky., in 1884, and have resided here ever since, contributing largely to the material and general development of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Fahey lived a life of retirement, even though proving after her husband's death a successful business woman. Left with a family of smaller children she bravely carried on and by virtue of her business genius and initiative and subsequent investments was rewarded with a fair share of this world's competence. Displaying confidence in the future of Bay St. Louis, she built (Continued on page 4)

SCHOOL AT DeLISLE PRESENTS COLORFUL OPERETTA TO PUBLIC

To Give Church Benefit on Evening May 3—Pastor Expresses Appreciation

Wednesday evening at DeLisle, residents of that vicinity and from the coast sections witnessed the presentation of "Cinderella in Flowerland," at DeLisle Consolidated School Building, to a numerous audience.

Miss Evelyn Anderson, pianist, accompanied the entire operetta, displaying her superior technique for such exacting performance, carrying thru the beauty of expression so necessary to the voices.

Young people participating gave every evidence their voices had been well trained and it might well be said there was not a flaw in the entire performance.

An operetta is designed for adult and it was the exception to note how well the different parts were carried thru to possible perfection. This success amply demonstrated that the teacher had worked hard and incessantly and too much credit cannot be given. Hard work, patience, skillful training has its reward. Perseverance wins.

Commenting on this success, more than every one recognizes the truth of these famous words of the Latin poet Virgil, "Labor omnia vincit," Labor conquers everything!

Prof. R. D. Brown, principal of the school, announces a concert for the benefit of the church at DeLisle will be presented May 3, stating that he felt sure it would be appreciated by the Rev. Father Sorin, resident pastor of the church. The performance will be at 8 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited and Father Sorin states he is thankful and grateful for the good will manifested by the school faculty for his church. A large attendance, he says, will be a mark of appreciation.

S. S. C. MUSICIANS SCORE FIRST PLACE.

MEMBERS of St. Stanislaus College Band made a splendid showing at Jackson a few days since at the Mississippi State Band Contest, winning the first prize and honors in Class C, giving to the college a permanent plaque of honor and each individual member of the band a gold medal.

This is quite a distinction and we are naturally proud of the boys, college and their director Bro. Romuald, whose recognized talent as a musician and ability to train is well known. Last year the boys captured first place for the best showing in marching and second place for music and for certain reasons make it probable would have won recognition for marching again this year. However, the marching was called off. They are a fine set of young men and make for a showing that engages the admiration.

St. Stanislaus College and Bay St. Louis as well have scored and the record is enriched by the latest achievement.

Only recently St. Stanislaus won first place in the State-wide boxing tournament, held under athletic auspices, carrying away the bulk of honors.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION FOR HANCOCK.

REPEATED efforts of County Agent John Rozeman and others for rural electrification have not been in vain. Co-operating with proposed federal project aid, meetings and organized effort have borne fruit.

A telegram from L. J. Folse, executive director, Mississippi Planning Commission, to The Sea Coast Echo last week reported that eighty-seven thousand dollars had been allocated for the local work of electricity for industrial and domestic purposes through rural Hancock would soon become a reality. The project will include some 87 miles of lines to serve about 605 customers.

Our farmers and other dwellers in the rural sections will hail with more than ordinary satisfaction this marked improvement, creating additional values to farm lands and other realty. There is cause for a feeling of general satisfaction and congratulation to the forces that will bring the proposed improvement into effect.

GIVING TAX-PAYERS A BREATHING SPELL.

MANY municipalities and counties are re-financing outstanding bond issues and making for later maturities. In this wise, in certain instances Bay St. Louis waterworks bonds, there will be a five-year recess before any bond matures.

Such plan defers payments and affords taxpayers a breathing spell from the heavy annual stipend. It is plain we have voted to bond ourselves too heavily, pyramiding obligations in addition to the regular overhead and at a time when values have dropped and sale demands lessened.

It is safe to favor such plan. Knowing ones have unreservedly endorsed such plan of financing and it seems the only hope for immediate relief. Relieving the pressure is the desired end. We hope more cities and counties will endorse the plan. It will as a whole prove of State-wide relief. The public, the taxpayer in particular, seeks and must have relief. It will, in time, be forthcoming.

FOR A PUBLIC BATHING BEACH.

IT has been suggested Bay St. Louis create a bathing beach the same as other places along the Coast have built—for public recreation and as an additional attraction to this section.

It is pointed out that bathing beaches are far more attractive and of easier accessibility than suggested public piers. The latter requires constant maintenance and are not immune from tropical storms likely to visit; that bathing beaches are popular and meet present demand and popularity.

Recent legislative act makes it possible for such projects, local public funds used. In fact it is not only legally possible for easy financing but comparatively costs little. By means of process of "filling" taken from deep water a suitable and wide, sloping beach may be built.

The Sea Coast Echo in common with the many would favor such a move and we hope the day for a public bathing beach for Bay St. Louis is not too far distant.

FOR FARMERS.

FARMERS, interested in making money, will probably be interested in hearing that the University of Notre Dame, at South Bend, Ind., recently sold thirty-six steers to a packing company for more than $8,000.

The steers, originally purchased in the Chicago feeder market, were fattened on one of the university's farms. Average weight was 1,397 pounds and the price $16.25 a hundred-weight, the highest on the Chicago steer market in six years.

The annual high school band contest at Jackson, closed Saturday, was a huge success from a standpoint of number in attendance and interest manifested.

DRILLING FOR OIL IN COAST WATERS.

CONSIDERABLE opposition has arisen over the proposition offered by an outside company to drill for oil in the waters of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Such a proposition is still before the proper authorities of Mississippi awaiting license to begin operations.

Opponents say it would mean the end of fishing and of the Sound waters for swimming recreation; that it would prove a blow to the resort business which marks this section annually. Others take an entirely different view and give valid reason in substantiation of their arguments.

Clayton Rand, editor Mississippi Guide, is an ardent pro. He registers sanely and with effect:

Objections are being filed against the state leasing the waters of the Mississippi Sound for oil exploration. Some say oil wells would spoil our fishing and that derricks would mar our coastline.

As far as we are concerned we are willing for them to find oil anywhere in Mississippi they are willing to drill for it—even in our back yard.

As a matter of fact, oil wells have nowhere destroyed fish in salt water and oil fields have done no damage to scenic coastlines—the city of derricks looks mighty good at Long Beach, California.

Something is going to have to be found to keep this coast kicking as soon as there comes the abatement of Federal projects. Oil would build this port and city faster than lumber and cotton put together. It would mean refineries as well as ships.

I'd give up a mighty good fishing or swimming hole for a well that didn't do but a few barrels a day, and had to be pumped at that.

Long Beach is one of the show places of the California Coast. Much of the "forest of derricks," as we saw it time and again, is owned by the municipality and ad valorem and other taxes are negligible, we are told. At Ventura, Cal., a similar picture and condition exists—all to the good!

WHAT ABOUT BASEBALL?

ABOUT this time of the year old baseball fans begin to get the fever and watch anxiously for the major leagues to swing into action.

Occasionally, one hears somebody wonder why the boys of today do not play baseball. The speaker generally appears at a loss to explain what, to him, seems a mystery.

Of course, the boys of today have other things to take their time, like the automobile and the moving pictures, but there never was a crop of boys who did not like games. The simple reason why they don't play baseball is because they have no place to play the game.

Thirty years ago, before paved streets and automobiles came along, you could watch a game of baseball, in the proper season, on almost any street in town. A stray horse and buggy, or a pair of mules and a wagon, might meander along occasionally but the players had plenty of time to get out of the way and the game didn't stop long. Today, the streets are not available to children for play because of the danger of being injured and killed by speeding automobiles.

Where can the boys play baseball? Think it out and you will find that, while the boy population has grown amazingly in thirty years, the available baseball grounds have dwindled to almost nothing.

A LESSON FROM THE WAR.

TWENTY years ago the people of the United States were facing participation in the World War. Congress had just passed the Declaration and the nation was finding out, for the first time, that unless men were sent abroad the Allied cause was all but lost.

It is worth while to learn a few lessons from the encounter, if possible. One of the striking illuminations is that, while we went to war to protect our shipping from German submarine depredations, our chief contribution was a huge army in France. The point being that our shipping interests could have been protected by warships alone and the lesson being that if our shipping is attacked in the future and we decide to protect it, the navy is the weapon for the occasion.

Rear Admiral W. N. Phelps, retired, points out this way clearly when he says "a few hundred millions put into augmented sea power would have beaten down the German submarine." Thus, if we ever have occasion to protect shipping in the future, let us do it with sea power, not an army of men in a foreign country, trying to overthrow another government.

WHY LIVE LONGER?

NEW knowledge in the field of nutrition, according to specialists, can increase the average life span seven years and, in addition, ward off disease and senility.

This will be good news to persons who are yearning for long life and anxious to remain on the globe as long as possible. All that is necessary is to understand the nature of foods and the needs of the normal human body and govern your appetite accordingly.

The question arises, however, why measure life by length of years. Some citizens live longer in three years than their neighbors in ten and others accomplish as much in two years as their competitors in twelve. The years of one's life are valuable, it is true, but we might as well begin to make full use of those that we enjoy. In so doing we will, very probably, assure ourselves of others that we might not otherwise have.

Mississippi boasts of having a very splendid citizen who claims to have been actively engaged in business longer than any other business woman in the United States. Miss Eleanor McGuire of Oxford made her entry to the business world as a saleslady in 1886, and hence has served in business for the last seventy-two years. Miss McGuire declines to discuss her age beyond the assertion that "All I can say is that I'm past sixteen."

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

"NINE OLD MEN"

(Gulfport Guide)

THERE was a time when the frost in one's hair gave him a patriarchal place in the hearts of the people.

Old men as a rule are better suited to sit in the judgment seat than young ones—they have wisdom and have had experience.

Nations need more old men like Clemenceau of France and Elihu Root of the United States—elder statesmen.

As far as age having any weakening effect on the brain power of old men, we could fill this column with names like Edison, Abraham, Isaac and Socrates.

In fact, we think "Old Man" Carter Glass has more fire in his soul than a combination of six of the younger men now sitting in the Senate.

Age has nothing to do with this Supreme Court fight. The fact is Roosevelt wants to run the Court. If there happened to be nine young men on the bench right now he would be crooning over the radio that he wanted some old men to run the Court who had had enough experience and wisdom to have some sense.

The Boy Scout Jamboree, called off before, will be staged at the Capital from June 30 to July 9. More than 25,000 Scouts are expected to occupy the tented city to be divided into villages housing 1,260 Scouts. The President will make an address and review the Scout who plan to line Constitution avenue as the Chief Executive rides down the line.

For Leadership In Public Health

HEALTH is fundamental to the full success of the individual and the nation. In the past half century, medical education in this country has experienced outstanding improvements, hospital facilities have greatly increased, and the standards of the medical profession have risen continuously.

What is the result of this general promotion of good health? The death rate in the nation dropped from 19.6 per thousand in 1890 to 10.7 per thousand in 1933.

Bay St. Louis is fortunate in having physicians and surgeons who have enjoyed excellent training and who pride themselves in serving humanity.

Let us cooperate to make Bay St. Louis known as a leader in health.

ADDRESS PRESIDENT NORTON HAAS BEFORE DISTRICT ROTARY

Meet at Natchez Last Week; Tells of Bay St. Louis Club And Its Progress.

President Norton Haas, Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, was the program speaker at Natchez, Miss., last week on the occasion of the District meeting, when the Club Service Group assembled at a special luncheon, part of the convention.

The address tells of how the Bay St. Louis club was revamped and new life injected; how successful the club is functioning and the outlook favorable.

President Haas addressing "Chairman Aubrey and Fellow Rotarians," said, in part:

My assignment on this program calls for the discussion of the following phases of Club Service: (a) How to develop members into informed Rotarians. (b) How to develop a wide and intelligent understanding of Rotary in the community.

Before entering upon this outlined discussion, I am going to ask that you bear with me for a few minutes while I tell you a little about our experience at Bay St. Louis. In September of last year we had an active membership in our club of only seven members. And I regret to say that our attendance from this number was very poor. This was a very dark month in Rotary for Bay St. Louis. I recall one of the meetings held that month, there were present only the Past President, Joe Schaff, Secretary Rene de Montluzin, and myself. In passing I might add that these Rotarians are here with me today, and they were the leading factors in the reorganization of our club.

We decided that night that it was time to call a halt, so we wired "Ty" Cobb, district governor, that we were ready to return our charter. He wired instructing that we make preparation for reorganization of the club. The meeting was held, and was attended by the "faithful six" and Rotarians from Pass Christian, Gulfport and Biloxi. "Ty" made a very forceful address at this meeting, and urged us by all means to hold our charter and make plans for reorganization. He outlined several suggestions for us to follow.

The "Faithful Six," or you might call them the "Stalwart Few," pledged their loyal support to reorganization. The Pass, Gulfport and Biloxi Clubs offered to render the programs for the coming three weeks, in order to assist us in our effort to revive interest in Rotary.

We set our goal of membership at twenty-five, and challenged "Ty" Cobb to drive over to render the program when we had achieved our goal. This he assured us that he would do, so we are here today to serve notice on our friend and leader "Ty" Cobb that we have reached that "coveted Goal," and we are expecting him to live up to his promise.

At our first regular meeting the Gulfport Club rendered the program, next week the Pass club, and the third week the program was put on by the Biloxi club. In the meantime we enlisted the support of "new and young blood" in our community. Within ten days we had increased the membership by ten, all "live wires" most of them had never been Rotarians before. We also received valuable aid and much encouragement from some of the "old timers."

And today we have what we believe to be one of the most active clubs in the 17th District, and we are very proud of our accomplishment. Please understand that I do not claim credit for this remarkable recovery of our club. I think the credit should go to the "Faithful Six," that fought the battle with me. They certainly were "Gallant Fighters," and rendered a great service to the cause of Rotary. The fruit of their work has been their reward. "He profits most—who serves best."

(a) How to develop members into informed Rotarians—

The most successful plan in this direction is a "good weekly Club publication. But first of all, in order for Rotarians to become informed Rotarians, they must attend meetings. It is the responsibility of those in charge, principally the Program Committee to arrange interesting programs, so that members will look forward in anticipation of the next weekly meeting. I find that a splendid method to employ in keeping up interest among members, is to make a special effort to get all of them possible on some kind of a committee. They learn a lot from committee assignments. That is of course if your committees are active. If you appoint your committees, and then forget about them until next year, the members will not even remember that they are on any committee, and will not feel any responsibility.

I suggest that you call special meetings of your different committees, require the chairman to bring in reports of activities. Make certain that they serve the purpose for which they were instituted.

When a Rotarian reads the club's weekly paper, which contains a summary of the program at last meeting, and something about the next, he naturally gets a better impression of the last talk, and at the same time prepares himself for a better reception of the following week's program.

When you put a program on that symbolizes one of the objects of Rotary, publish this particular object in your next issue, and in this manner you have stressed the fundamental principles of Rotary in a most impressive manner.

(b) How to develop a wide and intelligent understanding of Rotary in the Community—First, by a wide awake publicity committee, and I would suggest that not only a report of each meeting in your local paper, but should it be a weekly, I would send the write-up to two of the nearest and largest daily papers. Practically the same plan will work on the community as will work on Rotarians. You must adopt some objective of much interest to the local people, and keep them advised of the progress you have made in this direction. If they are interested in your undertakings, naturally they will become well informed of Rotary.

Take an active part in all civil undertakings, keep your club before the public eye. Make them feel and realize that your club is worth plenty to a community.

Invite different leaders of your community, non-Rotarians, to meet with you, enjoy a program, and to witness your activity. Invite them to appear before your Board of Directors, and make suggestions to that body. Show them a spirit of co-operation.

SUGAR TALK

With twenty-three nations participating in the sugar conference, which opened in London last week, the hope is expressed that some agreement may be reached to regulate production of sugar, of which there is now an overproduction, and thus pave the way for the possible consideration of similar action on other products, such as tin and rubber, of which there is underproduction.

Railways and men agree on pensions; 1,500,000 benefit.

RELIEF

Some experts estimate that the cost of public relief in the last four years has been around $13,000,000,000 with the States and local units providing about $3,000,000,000. While there are no recognized figures for the number of unemployed one estimates that, in addition to the 3,000,000 jobs on Federal payrolls, there are 1,500,000 on State and local unit projects and that around 4,500,000 are managing to live without relief work.

The usual Waveland Recreational meeting was held in the school auditorium Monday at 2 o'clock. The workers sewed on a Yo Yo spread to be raffled for the benefit of the Parent-Teachers Association. The ladies were unusually enthused over the work and a great deal was accomplished. Several songs were sung and an appropriate song for the occasion "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party" was played and sung by Mrs. V. E. Weber, music supervisor. Mrs.

Virginia Marrero presided over the community club. She suggested giving a prize to the worker making the greatest number of Yo Yo pieces. There was a good attendance.

Mrs. Alma Slade of Waveland, recreational worker, held her Flat-top program Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sam Martin. Games were played and prizes awarded. Mrs. Ida Whitfield won a prize for dropping beans in a bottle. Mrs. Lena Rutherford put six hoops on the bottle and won a fancy pillow. Mrs. James Martin was given six berry dishes for looping a ring on a stake. The following ladies were present: Mesdames Lott McArthur, Ida Whitfield, Ray Whitfield, Ella Miller, Cora Martin, Chas. Warren, Lena Rutherford, James Martin, Sam Martin, James McFee. Mrs. Martin served delicious refreshments. Don't put up with useless PAIN
Get rid of it

When functional pains of menstruation are severe, take CARDUI. If it doesn't benefit you, consult a physician. Don't neglect such pains. They depress the tone of the nerves, cause sleeplessness, loss of appetite, wear out your resistance. Get a bottle of Cardui and see whether it will help you, as thousands of women have said it helped them. Besides easing certain pains, Cardui aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from the food they eat.

"THE CARS THAT HAVE EVERYTHING"

"HER HUSBAND LIES" A DRAMATIC SMASH FOR A. & G. THEATER

The powerfully dramatic story of a love that was shattered by a lie is brought to the screen in "Her Husband Lies," at the A. & G. Theater, Thursday and Friday.

With Gail Patrick and Ricardo Cortez in the leading roles, and with Akim Tamiroff, Tom Brown, Louis Calhern and June Martel in the supporting cast, "Her Husband Lies" emerges as one of the finest dramas of the season.

Cortez plays the role of a big-time gambler who is deeply in love with his wife, Miss Patrick. He objects so strenuously to his business that to keep her love he gives his word that he is through with gambling.

However, his younger brother, Brown, comes from the West with a big idea. He's going to "beat" the gambling racket. He doesn't know that Cortez is the famous gambler with whom he means to match wits. Seeing the danger, Cortez conspires with his former henchmen to give the lad a "trimming."

But Brown wins, and Cortez's henchmen emerge believing they have been taken for a ride. Furious when they discover that Brown is Cortez's brother they force the two into another game.

Cortez is thus forced to go back on his word to his wife. Still hoping to cure the lad of the gambling habit, he plays a crooked game for the first time in his life and is discovered. It's first-rate drama.

Miss Patrick, who is one of the screen's most lovely women, rises to new heights as a dramatic actress in "Her Husband Lies." Cortez, as the gambler, is superb; and Miss Martel, as the wife of young Brown, gives a convincing and tender performance.

"Her Husband Lies" was directed by Edward Ludwig.

WITH THE FISHERMEN.

By Cantcha Ketchum.

FLASH! Waters better, weather ideal, fishing good. This has been proven by reports of good catches during the past week.

To top the list Steele Drake and sister-in-law, Mrs. W. P. Acker, of Anniston, Ala., made a record catch of 27 pounds of fish the latter part of last week. Green trout, perch, striped bass and fresh water cat completed two full strings. Cut bait was used.

Mr. Hammond and party while fishing in the Rotten Bayou section caught a fresh water cat fish weighing 45 pounds and one weighing nearly 25 pounds. A total of 25 cat fish were caught by the party.

Another party of three from Gulfport report large catches of perch and green trout in the same vicinity while fly fishing. They spent three days on the bayou.

A. B. Vassalli states that his party caught numerous speckled trout at St. Joe Light last week-end.

Bernard Blaize, Nolan Ladner and Sidney Manieri were noted on the highway bridge Monday afternoon casting for speckles. They had landed several and had a number of strikes. Fishing on the bridge is improving with the water clearing.

Alden Mauffray and Arthur Scalford report catching a few green trout Sunday.

Joe Burrow when asked how was fishing these days replied, "Don't know, haven't been in a long time—too busy with my spring garden."

Reports from George Cuevas at Fenton say that the water in Rotten Bayou is perfectly clear and fishing is at its best.

Robert Genin returned Wednesday evening after about three hours fishing and showed yours truly two green trout each weighing nearly four pounds and a number of ones averaging about 2½ pounds. Bob would not say where he caught 'em. Maurice was "mum" on the subject.

John Damborino reports that while crossing the highway bridge between Biloxi and Ocean Springs Saturday he saw several fishermen with large strings of speckled beauties. Some were casting and many using cut bait. They were all big ones, says John.

Now with news of the good fishing on all sides an ideal spot for the picnic and fishing grounds is none other than Rotten Bayou, near Fenton, about 17 miles north of Bay St. Louis on the Kiln-DeLisle road.

At Cuevas' Store where the highway crosses the bayou the sandy banks are excellent for camping and perch and green trout fishing is perfect.

A boat can be secured at this location and fly fishing, casting or still fishing may be done. Figure on that trip the week-end and enjoy yourself with the family or party of friends there. Spring is here! Answer the call of nature!

Beloved Woman Goes To Final Reward

well and wisely. She projected and negotiated to fruition several business enterprises that endure and her share to the material constructive side of Bay St. Louis was only exceeded by her unceasing contribution to the moral and religious uplift. Her charities were never revealed, as she wished it, but these were many. Her purse and aid were ever ready for succor of the poor, the distressed and as a resident she was a fine citizen.

It may well be said she lived for others. We know of no better tribute to one it so deservedly applies. People who live so unselfishly and strive to do for others are not only here below rewarded for the fruit their deeds bear and the satisfaction that ensues and endures but certainly reap the reward which the Master has promised.

Mrs. Fahey was the mother of Joseph M., Edmund F. and the Rev. Leo F. Fahey; sister of Miss Agnes Shannon of Bay St. Louis and grandmother of Edmund F. Fahey, Jr., and Imabelle Fahey.

Although the bereaved ones know she is well in the keeping of the arms of Jesus, such lovely personality and exemplary spirit cannot but be missed and to them go out sympathy from the deepest depths.

The funeral was numerous attended, easily one of the largest ever witnessed in Bay St. Louis.

Such an outpouring of friends and acquaintances bore testimony of the regard and esteem in which the deceased was held. She had never turned away one from her door, never a deaf ear to appeal. She was one of nature's noblewomen. Loved by all. Blessed by heaven.
